Baker Pleads Not Guilty to Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Senate Majority Secretary Bobby Baker pleaded innocent before a federal judge yesterday to nine counts of tax evasion, conspiracy, theft, transportation of stolen money and fraud.

His trial was scheduled for Oct. 17.

The former Democratic aide answered the charges with a "Not guilty." He said nothing further.

Frenchtown Beats UM Rifle Team

The UM rifle team was defeated by Frenchtown Wednesday night, 1390 to 1421. UM's B team also lost its match, 1366 to 1324.

High individual scorer of the evening was Vick Demin, Frenchtown, with a 289.

UM A team members included Jay Cross 286, Roy McKinney and Toni Rhein 277, Jerry Olive 276 and Helen Ahlgren 274. B members were Al Hinman 273, Randy Miller 272, John Basness 268, Sandy Robbins and Bill Maire 255.

tend, expenses will be less and interest is expected to continue because many people came only for the floor shows, said John Lester, Nite Club Dance director since 1940.

Esther England, winner of last year's Metropolitan Opera auditions in Spokane, will sing "Habenera" from Bizet's "Carmen."

Miss UM, Judy Stowe, will sing "I'm Going to Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair" and "I'm in Love with a Wonderful Guy."

Edd Blackler will sing the "Tor-eador Song" from "Carmen" with the Opera Workshop. Janet Kenney and Elsie Mielke, recent winner of the Miss UM talent contest, will sing excerpts from Puccini's "La Boheme" with tenor Lee Mathews.

The Jubileers will sing a medley from the 30s and 40s. Excerpts from Meredith Wilson's "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" will be presented.

A Jubilee quintet and a jazz combo under the direction of Donald O. Johnston will do several numbers arranged by Juanita Smith, senior in music.

The Opera Workshop will perform numbers from "Camelot" by Lerner and Loewe and "South Pacific" by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

"This sort of light music is probably my greatest interest because of the fact that it trains students to stand on stage and perform like professionals," Lester said.

"Although four or five groups perform weekly for organizations outside the University it is not often that UM students have the chance to hear and see them," he continued.

Tickets for the scholarship benefit will be sold at the University Theater box office. Reserved seats are $2 and $3. Student seats are $1.

Newsom Sees Viet Conflict As Red Push

Phil Newsom, foreign news analyst speaking at Montana Forum, said he regarded the war in Viet Nam as an extension of various ideological wars around the world.

The French view the Vietnamese war as a civil war, Mr. Newsom said. The Americans view it not as a civil war, but one promoted by the North and by the Communist Central Committee in Hanoi.

"The Red Chinese do not want to get into this war. They prefer to have it fought by the North. The Red Chinese are also very anxious to have an uprising against the West. Thailand is their main target in this area," he said.

"If the United States withdrew from Viet Nam, the Red Chinese would label America a paper tiger," the United Press International correspondent said. Our withdrawal would indicate that no matter what our intentions were, we could not defend Asian nations.

Plans for the WRA intramural swim meet, Feb. 15, were initiated at a recent WRA Council meeting.

The WRA basketball tournament has been re-scheduled. This week's schedule is:

Jan. 25—Rebels vs. Kappa Alpha Theta vs. Turner II, 5:15 p.m.

Jan. 26—Alpha Omicron Pi vs. Shape-ups, 4:15 p.m. Losers of games 2 and 3, Tournament B, 5:15 p.m.

Jan. 27—North Corbin I vs. Turner I, 4:15 p.m. Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Losers of game 4 in Tournament A, 5:15 p.m.

Orchesis Adds New Dances

Classic ballet and Spanish dance are being added to the repertoire of Orchesis, modern dance group, for the spring concert, April 7 and 8.

The concert will depart from the regular pattern of dance presented by Orchesis in previous years. The additions, including experimental numbers, will complement the usual modern, abstract, lyric and jazz productions.

"Interest in dance is growing and we're really happy with the way this is growing, especially with the dance major that has been instituted in the PE department," Mrs. Evelyn Sullivan, Orchesis adviser, said. "There are also more student choreographers."

Honey McFarland, Darrah Link, Trina Ambrose and Rosalie Vossler were recently selected as new Orchesis members.

Spurs to Show Spursonalities

The first Spursonality party for freshman women interested in Spurs will be Sunday from 2-4 p.m. in Brantly lounge.

This will be the first of three parties Spurs give in order to get acquainted with freshman women. The other two parties are scheduled for spring quarter.

UM Vocalists Win District Competition

Lee Mathews, tenor, and James Terrell, baritone, won the Northwest district Metropolitan Opera talent competition in Spokane Saturday.

Both will attend the regional competition in Seattle Feb. 6. The regional winner will receive $300 and an expense paid trip to New York for auditions on the Metropolitan opera stage.

Terrell last year won the district and placed in regional competition. He studied with the San Francisco Opera last summer.

Mathews has had the tenor leads in "Girl of the Golden West," by Puccini and "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Mascagni. Last summer, he had the lead in "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" at the Bigfork Summer Theater.

In the competition, Terrell sang arias from "Il Trovatore" by Verdi and "Carmen" by Bizet. Mathews sang arias from Mozart's "The Magic Flute" and Gounod's "Faust."

Other students chosen to compete were Edd Blackler, baritone, Janice Boyer Kenney, sophomore, and Esther England, mezzo-soprano who won the competition last year.

Forum Faces Money Issue

Lack of money and permanent headquarters are two major problems facing the Montana Forum Committee for Faculty Evaluation.

Today the committee will ask Planning Board and Budget and Finance Committee for money; tomorrow they will appeal to Central Board for money.

"The committee is now getting estimates for production costs so it will have something concrete to present," Alice Fussell, Forum committee secretary, said yesterday. The committee needs at least enough money to print the evaluation forms, she explained.

Besides money, the committee needs a room for storage of materials, Miss Fussell said.

Friday the committee will present the evaluation form for discussion at Montana Forum.

Americans Killed in Viet Cong Attack

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong rained 42 mortar shells on the big U.S. Marine base at Da Nang early today, killing three Americans.

Two Vietnamese soldiers also were killed, a U.S. military spokesman said, and 25 persons were wounded—11 Americans, 11 Vietnamese soldiers and 3 Vietnamese civilians.

No planes were hit and there were no fires although 8 to 10 rounds of mortar fire fell in a zone that included an oil and gasoline storage area. Several trucks, other vehicles and a mobile crane were damaged, he said.

The Americans killed were two Marines and one air policeman. The air policeman died from a direct mortar round near the flight line. One of the two Marines killed was a mortarman on duty at the Seabee mobile construction battalion encampment across the Han River from the main airbase.

The hit-and-run mortar barrage lasted only 15 minutes, the U.S. spokesman said. No small arms fire was reported from the guerrillas and they made no effort to send demolition teams into the sprawling complex.

Marine helicopters took off from the base, 365 miles north of Saigon, to hunt the attackers.

Summer Training Planned For General Fields Majors

Seniors and graduate students in general fields majors can get applications from departmental chairmen for summer jobs utilizing the training of their majors.

These applications are available to students who intend to continue their education in such fields as liberal arts, political science, economics and business.

Two seniors, John Ross, Fromberg, and Lee Simmons, Red Lodge, devised this plan for practical training and experience in general majors by attempting to

Law Students Begin Finals

Four-hour-long finals that count 100 per cent of the final grade began yesterday and will extend through Saturday at the UM Law School.

"These are the only tests that the students have in each class," said Robert E. Sullivan, dean. "When they take these tests, they are on the honor system; we haven't had any problems with that, and it's been in effect for over 40 years. The reason for the tests counting 100 per cent is to test the students' reactions under tremendous pressure."

No one is graduating at the end of this semester, because students are not admitted into the law school at any time except the fall semester and there are no summer sessions.

Finals end Jan. 29 after which there is a four-day break.

UM Freshman Selected Queen

Lynne Hileman, the newly chosen Whitefish Winter Carnival queen, will begin her reign by representing Whitefish at the Winter Carnival in St. Paul, Minn. Miss Hileman leaves Thursday for the five-day visit.

She was crowned Sunday night during the weekend celebration. She will reign at the Winter Carnival in Whitefish Feb. 18-20.

Miss Hileman is a freshman majoring in elementary education. She is also a freshman cheerleader and an Alpha Phi pledge.

AWS to Study Women's Rules

A questionnaire concerning women's rules and regulations is being sent to living groups this week. Results of the questionnaires will be tabulated Thursday.

Changes in the qualifications for AWS officers are being considered so that more girls will be able to run for offices.

As the qualifications stand now, the president must be a junior with a 2.0 GPA, and must have been a voting member of AWS for one year. The change would allow sophomores to run for this office. The vice president, secretary and treasurer must be sophomores with a 2.0 GPA. The change here would allow freshmen to run for secretary and treasurer.

Girls wishing to run for AWS officers must submit their petitions with 10 signatures by Feb. 2.

Variety Production Replaces Annual Nite Club Dance

The variety show replaces the Nite Club Dance which was staged annually during the past 20 years. More people will be able to at-

Air Force ROTC Offers New Program

A new Air Force ROTC program will allow students to earn a commission in two years.

The two-year program permits students who did not enroll in the basic course during their freshman and sophomore years to begin officer training in their junior year. A six-week field training course is substituted for the first two years of the four-year program.

Lt. Col. Robert Velde, professor of aerospace studies, said applications for two six-week field training courses this summer are now being accepted. The first session begins June 12 and the second July 24.

Col. Velde said the applications would be accepted as long as time remains to process them before the sessions begin, but he pointed out that the earliest applications will have a better chance for a choice between the two sessions. Sites for the training will be announced later, he said.

Cadets will receive $40 a month as a retainer pay while enrolled in the program. Male students who have two or more years of academic work remaining for a bachelor's or graduate degree, are eligible to apply, provided they can complete such work by their 28th birthday.

Kitzenberg Says It's a Dirty Shame

To the Kaimin:

(The following are excerpts from a speech to be delivered at Central Board Wednesday night.)

Tonight I speak about a problem of extreme concern to myself and other resident hall residents. The problem is that of inadequate laundry facilities.

During Thanksgiving vacation,

Prof. Schuster Clarifies Comments

To the Kaimin:

You have shown me, Dr. Behan, that I was guilty of a false assumption concerning the legitimacy of graduate students paying for help in writing up their research. I hope you will believe that when I wrote my letter of January 13 I had no intention of accusing any foresters of dishonesty, for it had not occurred to me that infringement of rules might be involved. Had I suspected fraud, I should have communicated directly with the Dean of the School of Forestry last year; I would have regarded the whole affair as private business of the School of Forestry, and would not have used it as I did in a letter to the Kaimin, to illustrate the inability of many of our graduate students to write well. For having mentioned it in the way in which I did, without first checking to make sure that the transactions were known and were permitted, I apologize to you and to all foresters.

Three things misled me into assuming that nothing dishonest was involved:

1) The student who told me he was earning money in that way spoke openly, with many people listening, and he gave no indication by his words or his manner that he was aware of being involved in anything illegitimate. (I have given his name and address to Dean Bolle.)

2) My admiration for the Honor Code, of which the School of Forestry is justly proud. We all respect the success of that Honor Code. Indeed, my confidence in the honor of foresters reinforced my assumption that whatever was going on was permitted.

3) My conviction that, unless we require a great deal more writing than is now required in most high schools and in most undergraduate courses, we cannot in fairness expect all graduate students to be able to write master's theses without help on their English.

As I now see it, the root of the present misunderstanding, and of many big problems facing the whole university, is that we are evidently coupling old requirements of literacy at the graduate level with a present unwillingness to devote enough teacher-time to undergraduate courses to prepare all students to meet the old standards. I should be interested to hear comments on this from the English department, though I do not myself see the remedy in increasing the requirements in English, but rather in keeping undergraduate classes in every discipline small, so that the students can write and re-write and write some more.

The fact that at present large numbers of graduate students are incapable of good writing is admitted and deplored by educators throughout the country. (Because some foresters think I mean to imply that the problem is confined to them, I have Prof. Elison's permission to quote a statement of his about graduate students entering law school: "The law school has an intensive writing program, one of the principal objectives of which is to remedy the substantial deficiency in writing ability found among entering law students.")

If we want all graduate students to be capable of good writing, it seems to me that we must stop using mass-lecture, objective-exam methods of instruction on the undergraduate level, and must reverse the policy of granting increases in staff to those departments which can show large enrollment figures simply because they have adopted these methods.

CYNTHIA SCHUSTER
Dept. of Philosophy

Mr. Brown (resident halls director) and myself took a tour of the laundry facilities. Mr. Brown seems to agree with me that there was a small problem; however, he pointed out that the University could do little about this for they were bound by a contract to a local businessman who owned, leased, and maintained these machines. He said that part of the reason the dryers were inefficient was because converters were needed to boost the amount of electricity that was fed into the dryers. This problem, he said, has been pointed out to the businessman, and he was supposedly ordering them (Nov. 25, 1965). Today the same problem exists. No improvements have been made.

I also pointed out at that time that I didn't think the ratio of machines to students was adequate. He pointed out that each facility is planned to accommodate 80 to 100 students. The only place he felt that was being hurt was Craig Hall, and this was because of architectural design. I was then promised that as soon as the contract runs out (one-two years) the University will buy and maintain needed laundry facilities. Satisfied, I then reported this to Planning Board.

The other day I did my laundry in our dorm facilities. It took two and a half hours plus $1.50 to wash and dry my clothes. This is disgusting. At that time, of the two dryers, only one was operating. There have been similar circumstances reported in the girls dorms. The situation is this: not only is the service poor on these machines, but, when you do get a machine, the washers don't wash, the dryers don't dry.

You may ask what Central Board should do. Here are my suggestions:

1. I think Central Board should use its moral influence in this area to bring this problem to the attention of the Administration. What I would like to see from the Administration are not oral promises but written statements on what they actually plan to do about this situation.

2. I would like to see ASUM President John Ross proclaim February—1966—as SAVE OUR MACHINES MONTH. I would like to see him, in a letter to Pres. Johns, request that Mrs. Johns do the family laundry in the University laundry facilities. I am sure that after she sees the conditions some of us put up with that she will become one of our strongest supporters.

3. I also urge that during the month of February students refrain from using the machines in the dorms for the simple reason that both of them deserve a rest if they're to last for the rest of the school year.

Tips to Take Rest From BSAC Action

By BILL SCHWANKE
Kaimin Sports Editor

It's "take a breather from Big y Conference action" time for e University of Montana Grizzlies this weekend.

The Tips, riding high following eir first victory at Bozeman against Montana State since 1961, will meet non-conference foes Portland State and Pan American College Friday and Saturday night.

Saturday night in Bozeman was nothing but heaven for Coach Ron Nord and his Silvertips. Montana came out with an 80-76 win over the Bobcats.

It was a team effort which also saw Gary Peck, Doc Holliday and John Quist gain individual glory.

Peck actually led the Grizzlies to their 44-36 halftime lead by hitting eight of nine field goal attempts and one free throw for 17 points at the half.

Holliday continually faced high pressure situations at the free throw line in the waning minutes of the game, and each time came through with flying colors. The classy guard finished the contest with 24 points, 14 from the free throw line.

Peck finished the game with 21 points, his best individual effort of the season.

Quist, who came in off the bench early in the first half, only scored seven points, but was the big man of the evening under the boards with 16 rebounds.

The Bobcats had everything going for them, but cold shooting definitely told the story. The Cats had 27 more shots from the field than the Grizzlies, but could hit only 31 of 83 for 37 per cent.

Montana took only 55 shots, hitting 25 for 46 per cent.

Montana State also had the edge in rebounding, 59-50, but the Grizzlies took advantage of one and one chances from the charity line to convert 30 of 44 free throw attempts.

Cubs to Battle Northwest Community JC

The freshman basketball team says a doubleheader this weekend when it meets Northwest Community College of Powell, Wyo., Friday and Saturday at the M Field House.

Montana State's Bobkittens, ailing by two points at the end of the first half, rallied to defeat the Cubs, 73-60, in Saturday's game at Bozeman.

The Cubs were leading at the halfway point of the game, 35-33.

"We played a good first half. We did everything we wanted to," stated freshman Coach Jay Jackson, "but then we came out at the start of the second half and went 10 minutes without scoring a field goal."

The Cubs finally scored a field goal when the score read MSU 55, UM 38.

"Individual defense on forwards fell down in the second half," the Cub mentor went on to explain.

Individual Cub performers were not lacking, however. Ron Madeen, 6'3" guard, held his former teammate from Great Falls, Jack Gillespie, 6-9 center, to four points in the first half.

According to Coach Jackson, Madeen "did an all-around job."

Swimmers Set for AAU Meet

The Montana swimming team will participate in the State AAU Five-Man Team Championship Saturday at 2 p.m. in the UM Pool.

The Grizzly mermen remain undefeated after outswimming Northern Montana, 66-28, and the University of Saskatchewan, 61-34, in a double dual meet Saturday in Havre.

"The guys did a real fine job; everybody swam a little faster than the previous week," explained swimming Coach Fred Stetson.

"Northern surprised us in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle when Chad Chadwick defeated Grizzly Tim Powers in both events. When they meet us here again it will be a little more interesting."

The Tips' Fred Bischoff set pool records in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:58.8 and the 200-yard butterfly (2:52.2.).

In addition, the 400-yard freestyle relay team of Ed Maguire, Pete Gardiner, Powers and Bischoff set a new pool and Montana varsity record, eclipsing the old mark of 3:36.0 with a time of 3:35.8.

Grapplers Idle This Weekend

The Grizzly wrestling team will be idle this weekend after losing two meets and winning one in a quadrangular meet last weekend at Cheney, Wash.

The matmen lost to Western Washington, 19-11, Friday and host Eastern Washington, 23-17, Saturday before outgrappling Whitworth College, 28-12.

"If we had wrestled Western last we would have defeated Eastern because 137-pounder Bob Palmer was injured in the Western meet and couldn't wrestle against both Eastern and Whitworth, giving them each an automatic five points," explained Ron Pfeffer, wrestling coach.

Outstanding wrestler of the meet was Grizzly Dick Treat. Treat, wrestling at 167 pounds, won a 14-0 decision over one opponent and pinned the other two in 4:29 and 2:15. Treat has now pinned four out of his last five opponents.

D DATSUN SEDAN

*Quote from a recent Motor Trend Road Test. In addition they stated it's built like a "Young Tank" — solid and sturdy and the one small car that takes long distance cruising in stride. You too, can get big car comfort and ride and still squeeze 33 mpg. gas economy — just drive a DATSUN! Delivers equipped with every extra but a radio.

DON'T MISS IT! TAKE A TEST DRIVE NOW!
